To par being the auniversary of the birth day of George Washington, the American vegels in the Harbour were profusely decorated with bunting. Out of compliment to the American Admiral the other war wessels in the Harbour joined in the display.

Last night the body of the Japanese who escaped from a steamer in the Harbour on 7th inst. and attempted to swim schore; was found on the beach near Abordeen. It will be remembered that a Japanese seaman grown into a place of much greates im similarly hermion and onjoyable place being was plaked up in the Harbour on the 7th inst, and that he told a rather strange had been badly mauled about already, when story about having been imprisoned on he was taken to the place of execution; board a steamer. According to this story two Japa stowed away on board the steamer his back, a pole was shoved through, and at a Japanese port. On making their anpearance they were set to work and they continued to work on the steamer while same way, from a kind of gallows, and she was lying in port. Every night they were put in irone, and on the morning la question, knowing that the steamer was being got ready for ses, they made an effort to escape. They broke the handcuffs intentionally missed hitting him fatally, to the 12 highest scores:and leg-irons with which they were fastened compariment in which they were shut up, sion by two shots in the left breast, after Mr Warnock to each other, burst open the door of the and jumped overboard. One man was the second of which he expired, and was rescued as previously reported; the other, disappeared. FROM official reports published in the Peking Gazette it is demonstrated that Korean settlers in Manchuria are compelled to shave their heads die Chinoise. We wonder, says the Shanghai Mercury, what Chinese Mandarindom would have to say if Celestial immigrants in Manila, Australis, or America, were compelled to dispense with their pigtails.

A HANKOW correspondent of the N. Madras, February 4. - General Von Kodolitsch, in the course of an interview with a press representative, said he envise and admired the Indian army. He considered the Indian Cavalry quite up to the standard of that of any Continental power, and able to hold their own man for man against any regiments of French or Russian caraley. The sporting qualities of the British officers particularly struck the General during his tour in India, and this sport seemed to give the officers much good physical training. It was his opinion that this training in field sports was almost as important as that on the drill ground. Nowhere had he seen so much money offered for prizes in rife shooling as in India . As regards a Russian invasion, the General said the Romisma would have absolutely no chance of success. The General told the Madras Times reporter that he liked everything in India. MISCELLANE DUS.
